

For Immediate Release:

New Identity for Water Soluble Film Leader
Aquafilm Ltd. – UK Changes Name to MonoSol AF
after being Acquired by MonoSol LLC

September 8, 2004 – Having recently become the latest member of the MonoSol group of organizations, UK-company Aquafilm Ltd. announces their new company name is MonoSol AF.

Since its founding in 1986, Aquafilm Ltd. has become the world leader in extruded water soluble films. Product lines include innovative packaging films, embroidery toppings and backings, and their premium range of water soluble laundry bags for infection control purposes in the healthcare industries. The soluble laundry bag technology has also been adopted in the hospitality, nuclear and general manufacturing industries for containing bed linens and uniforms, respectively

MonoSol AF will continue to use the Aquafilm™ trademark as its brand name, which is synonymous for Soluble Laundry Bags and Embroidery products in the world.

“It is so exciting to be able to offer the best of all worlds in soluble films to our customers,” said P. Scott Bening, President & CEO of MonoSol LLC. “We are confident that our soluble technology development timelines will be greatly reduced and overall innovation capabilities have been enhanced beyond any other company in the world.”

“This development is part of our plan to enhance and extend our technical and commercial support for all of MonoSol’s products to our customers, wherever they are located,” said Martin Osborne, VP and Managing Director of MonoSol AF. “It also lays the foundation for the expansion of production and distribution facilities in Europe.”

The acquisition by USA’s MonoSol LLC has combined the strengths and capabilities of both world leaders to now offer both extruded and solution cast production methods to provide the most advanced range of films available. Investment in the new MonoSol AF is fueling the research and development of more exciting product lines soon to be launched.
