Approach to tax risk management and governance

Ultimate responsibility for our tax risk management and governance of all relevant UK taxes and duties falls with the MonoSol Group Board of Directors.

The MonoSol UK Company Secretary (who is also the Senior Finance Officer) oversees the day to day controls, including tax, and is supported by the UK Finance team who are responsible for daily transactions posted to the company ledgers. Regular communications between departments ensures finance is aware of any exceptional items that may require specific tax treatment, for example pro-forma invoices where VAT is not included.

All finance staff are given appropriate training and resources to ensure our robust business systems and processes are in place, to provide accurate financial data to substantiate all tax computations and returns. When necessary, external specialist tax advice for more complex or significant business transactions will be obtained. All significant tax risks are reported to the Board of Directors for their review.

When considering tax risks, MonoSol UK encourages transparent business practices and an open and ensures ethical and honest dialogue with all relevant business parties takes place. We always aim to identify and manage tax risk and meet all tax obligations as well as being aligned with the Group's business strategy and governance framework.

Level of acceptable tax risk

MonoSol UK's appetite for tax risk remains low, consequently we do not engage in any aggressive tax planning schemes.

Our business affairs continue to be based on sound commercial principles and in accordance with relevant tax legislation, allowing MonoSol UK to utilise tax reliefs and allowances available in the manner intended by Acts of Parliament.

Eliminating all tax risk is difficult to fully achieve due to the uncertainty that arises from different interpretations of tax legislation. We aim to manage tax risk to a level in-keeping with the complexity and size of our business, through implementation of our business model which includes our approach to tax risk management.

Attitude towards tax planning

When considering the tax outcome of transactions and our attitude towards tax planning, we strive to align these with the MonoSol UK Corporate Social Responsibility policy.

MonoSol UK operates using only established accounting principles and we aim to always adhere to relevant tax legislation. We will consider a range of tax outcomes based on an underlying commercial intention of any business activity or transaction.

Any uncertain or complex areas will involve discussions with external tax advisors or HMRC as appropriate and are initiated by the MonoSol UK Company Secretary.

When considering the tax outcome of transactions and our attitude towards tax planning, we strive to align these with the MonoSol UK Corporate Social Responsibility policy.
